

SIGNAL PERSON TRAINING COURSE

With new signal person requirements, training for all necessary employees should be on your radar for 2010.

SC&RA and ETS (Equipment Training Solutions) have partnered to bring you a first-rate training program incorporating up to date industry requirements and OSHA standards. This interactive course uses detailed animations to visually demonstrate ASME Standard Hand Signals and digital graphics to show typical crane operations and limitations like drift, dynamic loading and boom deflection. Signal person requirements, such as, working near power lines, using platforms, proper communications and signals, relevant ASME excerpts and OSHA standard 1926.550 are also included along with a complete 80 question review chapter. Each set contains an instructor guide, student guide and CD-ROM. Additional student guides and instructor guides are available.
